

Dear Architectural firms,

We are pleased to announce that one licence of the ACS (Automatic Computation System) is now free for use for one year.

This product has several new functions developed last year that was funded by the CIC Research & Technology Development Fund and partly by the Urban Renewal Authority (URA).

The product aims to perform calculations in compliance with statutory requirements for GBP submissions. It is the FIRST available product based on Hong Kong regulations and practices to calculate GFA, Means of Escape, Sanitary Fitments etc. and generate related plans automatically for BD submission.

Architectural firms that are eligible to apply for CITF (the Construction Innovation and Technology Fund) can register at the CIC BIM Portal to get one free licence for one year (from now till 31 December 2022).

You are encouraged to use this product to prepare your GBP submissions as well as using it to check with previous approved submissions. The CIC welcomes your opinion and valuable feedback for improvement. Please refer to the link below for details.
